STACKER COVER

Adjustable batten pockets sewn close to top so that water does not accumulate in the cover when sail is away in the cover

Zips with pairs of sliders to allow reef lines to pass in and out of cover and tie round the boom

Mast cover which closes up the mast with a zip and under the boom with fasteners

Our stacker covers are made in heavy weight acrylic canvas, the colour is optional. Over the past 5 seasons we have continuously developed and improved our design to arrive at the optimum design. The batten pocket is sewn close to the top so that the cover is held open by the lazy jacks when the mainsail is up, and when the cover is closed water can not accumulate in the cover. Zips with pairs of sliders can be fitted to each side of the cover to allow the reef lines to pass in and out of the cover and tie around the boom. These covers work with standard short battened mainsails, however work even better with fully battened mainsail. The lazy jacks are a system of ropes forming a guide from the boom to approximately 2/3rd of the way up the mast. This helps the handling of the mainsail when reefing or lowering the sail. The lazy jacks are required when a stacker cover is fitted as they support the top of the stacker cover. We can supply the lazy jacks as a kit to enable you to fit them yourself. Other colours may be available upon request.
